National Bloopers—by Catherine Gamble

Nationals week (like our dogs!!) seems to be in full zoomie mode passing by us far too fast. The Circus tents, (aka Grooming tents) are full of sounds of howling sibes, dryers and laughter). The resort diligently cares for the grounds. When walking dogs after dark, you might want to wear your rain coat for when the sprinklers kick on as several of us can attest to...and of COURSE it happens when you are walking a freshly bathed dog. There are 2 great fenced dog yards. Anita Riley had her pups out playing the other day. They were having a blast running the fence. The yards being side by side, she commented on how much she liked the dog in the next yard. She took a second look... "OMG its Willy"!!! Yes, he pulled another Houdini trick. We were headed out to dinner the other night. Since my totally unloaded van only has two seats, we set up my folding chair so Ann Schultz could ride with us. Jon's not used to driving my van, used a bit too much foot on the gas and she flipped backwards liked the Flying Gaonas. We have our own Agatha Christy mystery. The first day the whole stack of newsletters totally disappeared. Nobody Has a clue....do you think that PETA took them??? A few other mishaps with minor injuries, mostly falls in the ring. Anita Rosenberger pretty much brought down the house. She managed to trip backwards while doing photos. (It takes real skill to trip backwards) she took the back drop down with her. If only they had snapped that picture. I'm still shopping for those can't find anywhere else items. —Catherine

Announcements

SHCA Banquet— Saturday evening's banquet has been moved. Cocktails will take place at 7:00 in the formal English garden. Dinner will be at 7:30 under the bistro lights on the terrace. Those who wish to specifically reserve a table of 10, should return their completed seating lists to the SHCA table by noon Friday. All reserved tables must have 10 people.

SHCA Silent Auction—Hopefully, you have all saved some $$ to spend at the Auction Friday evening---the team has amassed a wonderful collection of items!!!! Viewing begins at 6:45. The Auction will take place in the main conference hall...next to the exhibition rings.
